PRESS RELEASE: Ridgefield Arts Council is holding its second annual All-Artists Networking Party at 6:30 pm on Thursday, April 30, 2009 at the Aldrich Contemporary Art Museum.

The Ridgefield Arts Council is holding its second annual All-Artists Networking Party at 6:30 pm on Thursday, April 30, 2009 at the Aldrich Contemporary Art Museum. The program will bring together artists, including visual artists, performing artists, actors, musicians, dancers, authors and writers, who contribute to the cultural community of Ridgefield.

The special guest this year is John Cusano, Community Development Coordinator of the Connecticut Commission on Culture and Tourism's Arts Division, who will discuss 'Ridgefield as a Cultural Destination.' In addition to the presentation, local artists will have an opportunity to mingle with members of the local arts community, and enjoy complimentary wine and hors d'oeuvres.

Local artists interested in attending the event should RSVP by emailing events@ridgefieldartscouncil.org. This program is made possible with support from the Connecticut Commission on Culture and Tourism and the National Endowment for the Arts.
